INTERESTING ADDRESS BY PROF. TAIT

Medicos Enjoy Humorous Passages from Ancients

"BOB" HALL SPEAKS

Appeals for Support for Polish Relief

Over 175 students attended the regular meeting of the Medical Undergraduate Society last evening to hear Professor Tait, head of the Department of Physiology, give his address entitled: "Fuerunt ante Agamemnon fortes."

Previous to the arrival of the speaker the business of the evening was dealt with. The tentative date for the Medical Ball was announced as March 3rd. Mr. Hall, chairman of the Polish Students Relief-Fund spoke for a few minutes on the objects of the campaign and appealed for assistance to make it a success.

Dr. Tait, literally translated his subject as "There were great men, even before Agamemnon." He pictured the young graduate, entering on his career, wondering what to do with his spare hours. Camping and other pleasures would probably be looked forward to. However a great deal of time would probably be spent in reading,—one of the most lucrative ways of spending one's free hours.

Taking particularly the writings of the Ancient Greeks, who are really the originators of all forms of literature except the novel. He cited from the works of Horodotus, Thucydides, Plutarch, Lucian and Homer, many interesting passages. The wealth of material to be found in the translations of their work is amazing, and gives promise for many hours enjoyment. History, biography and fantastic tales of adventure are in abundance, and the humorous passages are a treat.

Probably Plutarch's account of the meeting of Alexander and Diogenes gave cause for much surprise and laughter. Alexander, on being appointed General, received congratulatory messages from all the great men of the day with the exception of Diogenes. Alexander decided to meet him, and went to where he was staying in a suburb of Corinth. Diogenes was sunning himself and when Alexander approached him, he did not arise. Alexander asked him if there was anything he could do for him and Diogenes replied: "Move just a little out of the sun." The crowd around began to chuckle and laugh, but Alexander showed his shrewdness and poise by saying to them, "If I were not Alexander, I would sooner be Diogenes."

Lucian's fantastic story of his trip to heaven brought about rounds of laughter and the gruesomeness of some of Homer's descriptions were a great surprise to many.

Dr. Tait closed by relating an experience of his own. Returning from college he told the story of the "Return of Odysseus" to an old shepherd. The old man remarked at the end, "Dogs been the same in them days as they be now."

The breaking away from the usual line of subjects medical by Dr. Tait was much appreciated by those present, and a most interesting evening was the unanimous verdict.

MISS NEWHAM R.V.C. EDITOR, RESIGNS POST

As the term of office for the R.V.C. editor on the Daily expires on February 1st, a meeting of the R.V.C. Undergraduate Society was held in the Common Room yesterday in connection with the Daily work.

A letter was read at the beginning of the meeting from Miss K. Newham, R.V.C. editor of the Daily for the past year, tendering her resignation. Nominations then took place for the office of editor, and Miss Grace Beckwith, assistant editor for the past year, was unanimously elected editor. Miss Dorothea Hay was elected assistant editor. It was decided that for the following year two night editors should be elected to relieve the editor and assistant on one night each week. The following were elected: Third Year, Miss Ellen Hart; Second Year, Miss M. Pennington.

COMM. AND TECH. MAG.

The Commercial and Technical High School of this city is publishing a magazine this year. A special department has been reserved entirely for the use of graduates of this school, since this is the "Souvenir Number" of the magazine. The school invites all former students to co-operate with their contributions in making their own special department a success, and will be very glad to hear from all "old boys and girls" at McGill.

BOXERS ARE BACKWARD IN REGISTERING

Faculty Winners Not Entering as Expected

TIME EXTENDED

Tournament to Be Held Wednesday and Thursday

It was stated in these columns some time ago that entries for the B. W. and F. College championships would be closed last night, Monday. Owing to the disappointing number of entries the executive have decided to leave the entries open for some time longer. The wrestlers have entered en masse and it is a keen disappointment to the B. W. and F. Executive that there is not a readier response among the boxers. The quality of our boxing material was amply shown during our Interfaculty contests.

It would seem that the main object of the interfaculty eliminations has been lost since the faculty-winners with one exception, have not yet entered for the college championships. Get busy fellows and prove your ability again.

The boxers have already had two outside competitions. The executive were practically forced to choose the same men for both occasions since they were the only ones of their weights in fit condition to represent the University. A meet has been arranged with the M. A. A. for February 11th, and any man has a chance to compete in this tournament if he is in fit condition. In addition there is the Toronto Intercollegiate Assault-at-Arms and the Annapolis meet. Every man has a right to enter. College championships no matter who his ability and while it may be difficult to arrange late entries, every effort will be made to accommodate entries up to Wednesday noon. The faculty-winners and their runners-up are especially encouraged to enter. There is plenty of intercollegiate material among you if you will only give yourself a chance by training.

Following are the entries received to-date:
110 pounds—Morsley—Scharie.
118 pounds—Welter.
125 pounds—Sammet—Graham.
135 pounds—Snow—Beckling, Ellsbury.
145 pounds—Gardner—Brewer, MacDonald.
153 pounds—Cora.
175 pounds—Smith—MacDonald College.
Heavy—Foss—McMeans.
The entry lists will be left at Porter's desk in Union.

It will be necessary to begin the eliminations at once to enable manager Currie to run-off the semi-finals and finals on the nights of Wednesday and Thursday of this week. All entries in the 125-lb class weigh in to-day at Molson's Hall at 1.10 p.m. Contestants will draw for byes and the unlucky ones will fight at the regular practice hour between five and six o'clock this evening.

LARGE ENTRY EXPECTED IN TOURNAMENT

Skiers to Hold Inter-Faculty Meet

KEEN COMPETITION

Winners to Be on McGill Intercollegiate Ski Team

After coming back from an interesting week-end in the mountains, the Ski Club looks forward to the Intercollegiate carnivals, the first of which is to be held at Dartmouth on the 9th-11th of February, and the next at McGill, the 24th and 25th. The men to represent the college have not yet been picked, but this week sees the trials for places on the team.

Thursday afternoon proficiency tests and jumping will take place at Cote des Neiges Rd., Jumps. The first two men in each of these events will be picked for the team. On Friday at 5 o'clock the campus will be the scene of the ski dash, and as in the other events, the first two men will be the lucky ones. Saturday afternoon at two o'clock the cross-country race of seven miles will start, and the two men with the best times get a trip to Hanover.

Entry lists for these events are posted in the various buildings and also one in the Union. All those who expect to take part will sign up before Wednesday night at 6 o'clock, when the list will close. It is hoped that the good turn out for these trials will be big holes to fill in the team. Good new men will have to be found. The McGill colors are going to come ahead of the others as handily as last year.

These trials will take the form of an interfaculty meet, as last year. First place counts 5 points towards your faculty, second, 3 points and third, 1 point. In addition there is a chance to win your M. A. small plain M is granted to all those making 5 points or more in a college ski meet.

Dartmouth are making great plans for their Winter Carnival this year. They have built a large new ski jump, and plan to have the first Carnival with it in use, a record one. McGill too, plans a fine meet. The 24th and 25th of Feb. are the dates for the meet here, and it ought to be a record. The jumping here will be on a new jump also, as the Montreal Ski Club have built a fine new shoot on their hill, and have found it most satisfactory. Remember to reserve the afternoon of Saturday the 25th of Feb. to go to see the Intercollegiate jumps. There will be in addition to the college men, representatives from the Montreal clubs entered in the competition. It is rumored that John Carleton of Dartmouth will do his famous somersault jump and it is hoped that Montrealers will be able to see him in this spectacular feat.

From now on, all skiers in college ought to be practicing every day in anticipation of the interfaculty meet at the end of the week, as a place on the team is well worth while.

RADIO ASSOCIATION MEET AT 5 TODAY

The followers of Wireless about the University will be pleased to hear that Mr. R. A. Scantlebury, a Marconi Engineer, has kindly consented to speak at the meeting of the association to be held this evening.

Mr. Scantlebury's subject will be "Some notes on Wireless Direction Finding" and as he has had much experience, both in the designing and testing of Wireless Equipment, it is expected he will be well worth hearing. This meeting is to be open to all who are interested in Wireless, and a large attendance is anticipated.

The place of meeting will be Room 2 of the Physics Building and the time 5 P.M.

A KNOTTY PROBLEM

Elsewhere in the news columns of this issue will be found some statements made by Professor Leacock on the vexed question of co-education. The article originally appeared in Collier's Magazine under the caption, "We Are Teaching Our Women All Wrong." A week or so ago an ambitious damsel from the University of Michigan took upon herself the onerous task of heaping coals of fire upon the educational views of the head of the Department of Political Economy at McGill.

It is worse than futile for the ardent feminist to dismiss the whole question of our modern co-educational system with a sneer at the so-called conservative male. A discerning reader will pierce through Dr. Leacock's veil of humour to the sound basis of irrefutable common sense and straight fact that lies beneath. We very likely are teaching our women all wrong. Who can dispute, to take one instance, the very well-known fact of the sufferings of the first year women students who endeavour to tackle the compulsory elementary physics course in first year Arts? Our clipping supplies plenty of other instances. This is the case for the women. They are usually painstaking and conscientious as far as the mere "ritual" of academic studies are concerned. When they are unhappy they appear to have every right to blame the present system rather than themselves. Now what of the men's side of the question?

Sombody once said very justly, "Co-education is all right enough in its way for women, at least it doesn't handicap them; but if anyone suffers it is the man." Imagine the position of the man student in a lecture room with women. The cautious professor faced by a solid phalanx five or six rows deep of women students frequently emasculates his subject for reasons of delicacy. This is most certainly not as it should be. The student is not deriving the full benefit that he might in this cursory fashion.

We are inclined to take the whole system too much for granted. Of course co-education has come to McGill to stay, but that is no reason why it should not undergo some modifications. Woman may be man's superior in certain walks of life, as she is his inferior in others. She is not, and can never be his equal. Why should she be compelled to swallow a man-made education to her own constant detriment?

Let us carefully, very carefully, consider the words of Professor Leacock. He never spoke more seriously.

E.T. CLUB TO HOLD A SHOOTING PARTY

R.V.C. Students from Townships Cordially Invited

The club's first skating party of the season will take place on Thursday, February 2nd, at 8 p.m., on the McGill rink nearest McTavish street. Refreshments will be served at the Yellow Tea Pot Inn at 10 p.m. and dancing will follow. Tickets will be 50c a couple.

All E.T. girls of the R.V.C. are invited together with any girl friends they wish to bring along with them. It is the club's desire to have their fair co-eds co-operate and make their social functions more friendly and more pleasing. Let this party be the first of the many to follow in which the girls and boys of old E.T. may get together. A notice has been placed in the R.V.C. asking all those who intend to come to kindly sign their names. Please take advantage of this and don't fail to put your name down.

There will only be twenty tickets on sale at the Yellow Tea Pot Inn can only accommodate twenty couples at the most. All those who wish to secure a ticket go to the Union on Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. Members of the executive will be there and only those of good standing with the club will be able to secure tickets from them. Don't forget—only twenty tickets—be at the Union on Wednesday at 5:15 p.m.

On Thursday evening everybody will meet at Strathcona Hall in the Assembly Room at 7:45 p.m. Skating will start at 8:15. Everybody keep this date open. Watch the Daily for further information.

COWPUNCHER PUNCHED NO MORE.

Upon his colt, with disconcert,
Sat mean Cowpuncher Joe;
"And now," quoth he, "just watch and see
How this young horse can go."

Then did he thrust a spurred heel
Into the beastie's side,
The other foot caught in his mane
And that began the ride.

The bronc did pitch both high and wild,
Which leaves not much to tell;
Except the fact the cinch did bust
And Joe woke up in Hell.

To the Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir—A letter appearing in today's Daily over the signature of Messrs Ambridge and Lawrence presents a point of view on student relief that is worthy of consideration as it doubtless represents the opinion of other students at McGill. However, many of us who have given a great deal of thought to this matter have come through to a different conclusion, indeed to a positive conviction.

The fact is that while tremendous organizations such as the American Relief Administration, the Imperial War Relief (of which King George is a patron) and the Society of Friends are administering relief on an international basis to other classes over precisely the same areas, the care of destitute groups in the universities has been left to the students of the world. It is not an attempt to separate students from the rest of society (as suggested in the letter of Messrs Ambridge and Lawrence). It is merely being explicit and business-like in delegating a particular task to a particular group of people who should be most interested.

It may not be generally known that $600,000 was raised by student organizations throughout the world for this cause last year. The contribution from South African universities represented an average of $4 per head for the whole student body. One small university in Canada did as well. The students of Holland as a whole did better, 11,000 pounds being raised from a student population of 9,000. A contribution from McGill representing an average of 50 cents from every student has been suggested as our objective. Fifty cents means one meal in Montreal but when it has passed through the mad exchange of Central Europe, it will buy fifteen meals of the kind which is served to destitute students. Do we really believe that such a contribution will lessen in any appreciable degree what we actually intend to do for the unemployed of Montreal? On the contrary we do not believe that in actual fact (not in theory) the deserving unfortunates of Montreal will be one dollar poorer because of our effort on behalf of our fellow students in Central Europe.

We can give assurance to the student body of McGill that the Students' Council did not venture upon this enterprise without very serious consideration. All the arguments advanced in today's letter, and more, were thoughtfully and fully weighed. But we could not see that the possibility of a few, who might in some remote way carry responsibility for the war sharing in this relief, should condemn to destruction the thousands who carry no such responsibility. Let us remember that no great philanthropic undertaking has ever succeeded in excluding all the undesirable elements or even the unworthy ones. While some would demand the demarcation of territorial boundaries to this relief effort, other voices have been raised to draw the lines of race and religion. But the Student Relief Organization has steadfastly refused any other criterion than that of imperative need and in this stand it has been upheld by the universities of the world.

Furthermore, let us not talk about poison gas, we who should of all classes have our faces set toward the future rather than toward the past. It has unpleasant memories for many of us and discussion of it is liable to produce nothing more than unpleasantness now. The question for us to face frankly is whether the future good of the world will be best served by a demonstration of good will in the limited measure of which we are capable, or by a perpetuation of war hatreds and peace misunderstandings. That is the larger issue. The actual amount of money contributed by McGill may be small in any case. Of vastly greater importance is the spirit in which we seize our opportunities to help where the need is unquestioned and undoubtedly desperate.

Thanking you, sir, for your valuable space, I am
Very truly yours,
ROBERT HALL.

To the Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir—It was with great satisfaction that one read the letter in yesterday's Daily from Messrs D. W. Ambridge and A. R. Lawrence. Such an expression of opinion from men prominent in university activities shows that a faithful few will remain at "the horse-lines" and not "go over the top."

A campaign for needy students in Central Europe strikes a very sympathetic note. Even those needy students in our own university, who are striving to get an education on borrowed money; who tend furnaces in order to help pay their fees; men who five years ago fought with all their

CO-EDUCATION ROASTED BY PROFESSOR LEACOCK

Women Do Not Prepare for Professions—"Wretched Creature" Gets Married After Spending Four Years of Her Time and Parents' Money at College.

The article on co-education which was written for "Collier's" by Professor Stephen Leacock, has caused so much discussion that it is being reprinted for the benefit of those who did not see the original. In the article Professor Leacock says:

"On the basis of my experience I say with assurance that co-education is a mistake and has nothing to recommend it but its relative cheapness. Let me emphasize this last point and be done with it. Co-education is, of course, a great economy. To teach ten men and ten women in a single class of twenty costs only half as much as to teach two classes. Where economy must rule, then, the thing has got to be. But where the discussion turns not on what is cheapest, but on what is best then the case is entirely different.

"The fundamental trouble is that men and women are different creatures, with different minds and different aptitudes and different paths in life. There is no need to raise here the question of which is superior and which is inferior (though I think, the Lord help me, that I know the answer to that too.)

"The point lies in the fact they are different.

"But the mad passion for equality has masked this obvious fact. When women began to demand, quite rightly, a share in higher education, they took for granted that they wanted the same curriculum as the men. They never stopped to ask whether perhaps their aptitudes were not in various directions higher and better than those of men, and whether it might not be better for their sex to cultivate the things which were best suited to their minds. Let me be more explicit. In all that goes with physical and mathematical science, women, on the average, are far below the standard of men. There are, of course, exceptions. But they prove nothing. It is no use to quote to me the case of some brilliant girl who stood first in physics at Cornell. That's nothing. There is an elephant in the zoo that can count up to ten, yet I refuse to reckon myself his inferior.

"Tabulated results spread over years, and the actual experience of those who teach show that in the whole domain of mathematics and physics women are outclassed. At McGill the girls of our first year have wept over their failures in elementary physics these twenty-five years. It is time that some one dried their tears and took away the subject.

"But, in any case, examination tests are never the whole story. To those who know, a written examination is far from being a true criterion of capacity. It demands too much of mere memory, imitiveness, and the assiduous willingness to absorb other people's ideas. Parrots and crows would do admirably in examinations. Indeed, the colleges are full of them.

"But take, on the other hand, all that goes with the esthetic side of education, with imaginative literature and the cult of beauty. Here women are or at least ought to be the superiors of men.

"Women were in primitive times the first story-tellers. They still are so at the cradle side. The original heart and soul to keep back that grey line composed of the fathers of the Central European students; even these men sympathize.

That the Students' Council should foster this campaign strikes one as subtly ridiculous. The Song Book has left us some thousands of dollars "in the hole," yet we blithely start collecting our good Canadian quarters for the benefit of the men who will not even get out and help pay off their own war indemnity.

Protests at this late hour are probably futile. One realizes that one is but an echo, not a voice, although perhaps a voice "crying in the wilderness."

If there were more interest taken by the student body in a problem which concerns them directly, both in principle and in relation to their pocket-books, perhaps then we would not have been overwhelmed by an artistic flow of oratory.

An intelligent concern in the Student Society meetings, a concern which would at least drag forth a quorum, would produce a representative opinion from all the students, not from just those interested directly in the campaign.

In all probability, several hundred dollars will be collected. How much better it would be to offer this money in the form of a scholarship to some really needy student in McGill; to a man who is going out to make a greater Canada and a wiser Empire, than to distribute it in doles to those who aided, directly or indirectly, in the destruction of our own fellow students!

I am, sir, yours very truly,
C. N. RAMSAY.

PEPYS AT MCGILL

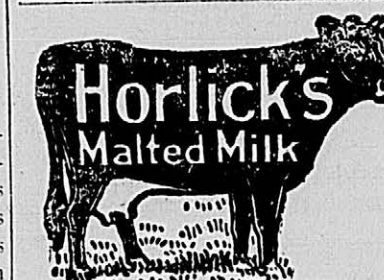

Monday, Jan. 30th. At last the blow has fallen upon my head and I see myself utterly undone. This afternoon in the entrance hall of the Arts building were posted the solemn notice of our examinations, and there I did see with a most sorrowful and woe-begone countenance that my name was not written upon the list for the geometrical or trigonometrical sciences or natural philosophy, or physics as some do maintain to call it, also in French which appals me not a little in that I always thought myself to be possessed of a goodly stock of bon-mots in the French tongue as every gentleman should do. Thus it would well seem from what I have been enabled to gather that I will shortly be summoned to depart hence like a pariah and an outcast, and a very cruel stroke it is to me. But more I cannot this day so utterly disconsolate that even ale has now no charms. I must see to the purchasing of a little strong cordial at the opening of the liquor stores to-morrow. What a sad doggie I feel!

LATEST LIST FOR FACULTY HOCKEY GAMES

All-Star Teams to Start Practice on Wednesday

NEW SCHEDULE

Last Games in Class Series to Be Played Tonight

The Interclass Championship will in all probability be decided tonight. Tomorrow's Daily will contain all information regarding the winners and the standing of the other teams in the league. The manager regrets very much that several men who have shown themselves to be good hockey players and of value to their team have been suspended for failing to be physically examined before playing. It is a hardship for their teams to lose these men but the rules are very explicit on this point and it is necessary that they be stringently enforced. The manager sincerely hopes that no further disciplinary measures will be necessary in this respect.

In one case, that of Arts '22, the team was forced to forfeit all games played by them during the year because their goal tender had failed to carry out this rule. The other Arts teams waived the forfeiture, however, and Arts '22 will be allowed to continue their schedule without, of course, their barred members.

The schedule of practices for the All-Star faculty teams will be as follows:

Wednesday, Feb. 1—

Campus Rink:
5.15-6.15—Commerce.
6.15-7.15—Arts.

Ladies' Rink:

5.15-6.15—Meds.
6.15-7.00—Dents.

Thursday, Feb. 2—

Campus Rink:
3.15-4.15—Arts.
5.15-6.15—Science.
6.15-7.15—Meds.

Ladies' Rink:
6.15-7.10—Dents.

Friday, Feb. 3—

Campus Rink:
5.15-6.15—Juniors.
6.15-7.15—Dents.

Ladies' Rink:

6.10-7.10—Science.

Saturday, Feb. 4—

Campus Rink:
11.00-12.00—Arts.
12.00-1.00—Commerce.
2.15-3.15—Meds.
1.15-2.15—Science.

All practice hours which conflict with those given above are automatically cancelled from this date. Any class team which has been forced out of practice hours by above schedule may receive new ones by applying to the manager at the Union any day between 1 and 2 o'clock. Commerce may have one hour more by applying for same.

Any practice hours not affected by above will remain in force until further notice.

The games in the All-Star League will start on Monday, Feb. 6. It will be a single schedule in which each team will play five games. This year Macdonald College has entered a team in the league and if possible two or three games will be played at Macdonald. Teams from McGill have always been royally treated at Macdonald and no doubt there will be keen competition as to which teams will play there. The games at Macdonald will be held on Saturday afternoon and since only three teams at the most will be able to make the trip, the manager desires to know immediately which teams wish to go. If all faculties desire to go, lots will be drawn. The first games to be played will be as follows:

Monday, Feb. 6—
6.15-7.15—Science vs. Macdonald.

Tuesday, Feb. 7—
5.15-6.15—Arts vs. Commerce.
6.15-7.15—Meds. vs. Dents.

These games will be on the Campus Rink.

The remainder of the schedule will be posted as soon as information is received regarding teams wishing to take trips to Macdonald.

Faculty managers will kindly furnish this information to the manager personally or by letter as soon as possible together with their address and phone number.

Manager Class Hockey.

WM. C. MUNRO WINS PRIZE FOR ESSAY

The Board of Judges in the Students Essay Competition conducted under the direction of the Technical Section of the Canadian Pulp & Paper Association have unanimously awarded the First Prize of $100. for the best essay by the student workers of the Association to William Caldwell Munro, a student in the Chemical Engineering course at McGill University, for his essay on "Newsprint Paper."

The Board of Judges in the Students an excellent grasp of the subject of which it treats, and that it also has the advantage of being written in good style and well illustrated, both by photographs and pen and ink drawings.

WRESTLING PROSPECTS SEEM GOOD

Five Elimination Bouts Held Yesterday

IN UNION

Semi-Finals to Be Held Tomorrow—Finals Thursday

Owing to the large number of entries in several of the classes, five wrestling bouts were run off yesterday for the first of the eliminations. Reid, Hamilton, Mader and MacNaughton were returned winners.

The wrestlers this year look very promising. All of last year's team are back with the exception of Brant, the intercollegiate 110-lb. champion. Reid, who won the 118-lb. in the intercollegiate has graduated into the 125-lb. class. Dave MacKeen is as impregnable as ever in the heavyweight division.

The eliminations yesterday were all interesting bouts. Mader and Oliver struggled for the full nine minutes. Mader had a slight advantage and managed to obtain one throw thus winning the bout. Mace put up a good fight against his more experienced opponent, Reid, who seems to have gained in skill as well as in weight since entering the 125-lb. division. The one bout in the 118-lb. weight was a victory for Macdonald, of last year's team, over David. Hamilton was able to gain two throws over Goddard in the welterweight division, while MacNaughton disposed of Weisberg in the same class. The remainder of the bouts will be held to-morrow and the finals on Thursday.

The heavyweights contain perhaps the best men. Dave MacKeen is in a class by himself among the heavies. The old rivals are again fighting out the title in the 175 lb category. Rumble and Freedman are both in the best of condition and it will be hard to choose the better. Although Freedman was defeated by Rumble in the college championships last winter, he was able to beat his opponent out for a place on the team. Armstrong, Bair and Adams are a strong trio all of them making the 153 lb. squad. 112 lb. is a hard weight to find men for. Kleinberg and Andrews are the only entries for the position held by Bryant last year.

Coach George Smith had a good response to his call for competitors, and if the competition continues as strong until the intercollegiate meet, McGill should be able to come out ahead. Although Varsity and Queens are reported to have stronger teams than last year, The McGill team have improved remarkably and have the necessary weight which brings down victory.

On Thursday the finals will be run off in the Union and some exceptionally brilliant wrestling will be seen. The men realize that if they win their bout it will mean that they will be likely choices for the college team.

The results of the eliminations yesterday are as follows:

118-lb.—MacDonald defeated David.
125 lb.—Reid defeated Mace.
135 lb.—Mader defeated Oliver.
145 lb.—Hamilton defeated Goddard.
MacNaughton defeated Weisberg.
The remaining men are left in the different weights:
110-lb.—Kleinberg and Andrews.
118-lb.—Donald, Benjamin, Proctor, Mills.
125-lb.—Reid, Matthews, Yroman.
135-lb.—Currie, Mader, Clement, Howes, Delorimier.
145-lb.—MacNaughton, Messenber, Brisbane, Hamilton.

FENCERS SHOWING GREAT ACTIVITY

Representatives to Assault-at-Arms Decided Wed.-Thurs.

Very little publicity has been given to the fencing branch of the B. W. and F. since the beginning of the present session, but with the imminent approach of the University championships it might be well to throw a little light upon their doings.

Ever since the beginning of the month of November under the supervision of instructor Raimondi the fencers have been practising steadily in the gymnasium of the Diocesan College on University Street. More than one of the new men who have taken up fencing for the first time this season, have shown considerable proficiency in the art and will undoubtedly supply invaluable material for the make up of future intercollegiate teams. In the meantime the old-timers of two or more years standing have let no opportunity go by to improve their keenness of eye or accuracy of touch and, during the last few weeks, have been working out at fever heat in preparation for the eliminations.

Of the four who have reached the top rank only two can be sent to represent the fencers of McGill at the Assault-at-Arms in Toronto in the middle of next month. Two of the four, Christou and Walter were members of last year's team, while Fielding, who is probably known in B. W. and F. circles then either of the forgoing, although he was unable for technical reasons to fence in the Assault last year, has spent a longer period of time as a devotee of the foil than any other surviving member of the club. Cochran, the fourth member of

DARTMOUTH HAVE WINTER CARNIVAL

McGill Snowshoers Training at 5 P.M.

At the close of this week two teams will be chosen to represent McGill at one of the largest winter Carnivals in eastern Canada and the States. It will take place at Dartmouth next week. Several American colleges will be taking part and if this year's meet be anything like last winter's, McGill will have to make a spurt to retain her lead.

The programme will consist of both ski-ing and snowshowing events; which will be both of dashes and races over long distance courses. Latest reports from Dartmouth University, where the meet will be held, state that one of their best skiers, Carlton, has just broken skiing records there by jumping well over a hundred feet from their new jumps; and that he has been giving some pretty exhibitions of stunts in the air while jumping, which include his noted somersault which won him no small honour at McGill last year.

Last season McGill won the championship by a big margin; the snowshoers winning some fifteen points. This year the loss of Len Reid, Norrie Owens, R. L. Hamilton and Creelman from the ranks of the skiers and snowshoers makes a demand for more enthusiasts.

Today at 5 P.M. the snowshoers will meet at Molson Hall where they will dress and then practise on the Campus under the direction of Coach Gentleman. All men who have done any snowshoeing are invited to turn out and support their college as a big test will be made on it next week.

Further details of this meet will be found in another part of this issue.

PRACTICE TONIGHT FOR BASEBALLERS

Great Interest Shown in Opening of City League

The aspirants for positions on the Indoor Baseball Teams will get away with a wallop this evening between 6 and 7 P.M., when there will be a general practice at the High School.

Due to the great success of last year's teams in the City and District League, a great deal of interest is being shown this year, and it is expected that even the last year's stars will have to strike hard in order to make a place.

Much latent material was brought to light in the Interclass League which terminated recently, and if the interest shown then is any criterion, the former shining lights will be compelled to shine much brighter in order to hold down their positions.

This notice can be taken as a general invitation, or, to speak more radically an order for all bashful Babe Ruths of any ability to make their appearance this evening, whether or not their knowledge of the game is still in the embryo stage.

Looking at it from another point of view, it is a fine chance for first and second year men to obtain credit for P. T. attendance.

As the teams which are to represent McGill in the City and District Indoor Baseball League are to be chosen this evening it is imperative that those hoping to make a place, should be out.

The following, especially, are requested to show up:

Peacock, Phillpotts, Grassick, Puddicombe, Miller, Dreger, McCullough, Campbell, Chamberlain, Gauthier, Magid Gaboury, Hall, Avison, Bronson, Nairn, Wallace, Carruthers, McKinnon, Moore, Radway, Moran, White, Kinck, McLaughlin, Smythe, Richardson, Gosnell, Wright, Lanthier, Walker.

SOCIETE TO GIVE PLAY AND TEA WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock the Common Room of the R.V.C. will again be the scene of a meeting of "La Societe Francaise." The program promises to be just as entertaining as at the last one—but the act which was one of the leading features of the latter will not again be in evidence, unless something unforeseen occurs.

The first event on the program will be the presentation of a play, "Anecdote de l'ordre et de la methode," put on by the aspiring artists of the advanced class of the Second Year. The choruses alone are well worth hearing as the participants have been practising hard, and the results show to great advantage the training they have received.

After this entertainment, the success of the afternoon will be crowned by the serving of most delicious refreshments. Everybody is invited on Wednesday afternoon, so everybody turn out and appreciate the efforts of Mme. Toura and those taking part.

Mark it in the pocket diary for Feb. 4: Afternoon, Basketball game; evening: Hockey game.

The quartet, only took up fencing last season, but is likely to prove a very dangerous man to any of his opponents.

On Wednesday, the opening night of the University Championships, a bout will be staged between Fielding and Walter. On the following night Crestohl will fight Feilding.

AT THE THEATRES

ORPHEUM.

The Orpheum Players are presenting this week "The Storm" which is a particularly clever melodrama of a popular style. It is somewhat different from the other plays which have been seen at this theatre of late, in that it is a romance of our own Canadian Woods.

This play of Longdon McCormick's is of a special nature in another respect. The caste at the Orpheum is all star and is outstanding for the small number of actors and actors who take part in it.

Those who desire to have a glimpse into the real nature of the westerner's life will have an opportunity this week. It is staged mostly in the country of northern Alberta some years ago when that country province was going through very radical changes. The camp fire and other accompaniments of the out-of-door life are very effectively produced on this stage.

It has been said that a play without a romance is inclined to be uninteresting. If such be the case, the "The Storm" has its full share of interest as its romantic spirit is one which is very pronounced.

The full attendance at the opening performance of this showing is in itself a weighty drawing card.

PRINCESS.

Montreal holds her head well out of the "sea of poor shows" this week at least and the Princess is doing a very large share of the boosting. The theatre's bill this week is one to be seen by all—man, woman and child. It is one to be remembered and referred to by the fortunates enjoying it for years to come for it is all good, all brilliant all through.

The head-liner is Miss Daphne Pollard's Characterizations. Miss Pollard has entertained us before—some years it was—and since that time we have been looking forward to seeing her. Now we see her and hear her cheerful patter once again—that little happy "Idol of the London Music Halls"—clever as the famous Wilkie Bard, so true to life as the 'Arriet of 'Du Maurier, and lively as the song hits of Chevalier's cockney jrchins.

She hops the boards, catches our every attention and with one big pair of eyes she seems to stare each of her watchers in his eye—"I am doing this for you and of course you love it." "Cleopatra" a typical travesty from her fun skits, is truly delightful in dance, song and expression. Most of us can sing the song. But it would be nery indeed to try to ape Miss Pollard. "Wanted, a Man" is clever, startling. As we see her singing it we can well agree with "the man." But when she dashes from the stage in her inimitable dash and re-appears and faces us—her true self, we must confess that we can no longer agree with "the man" but must say to ourselves, "She is worth knowing."

Florence Hobson and Eileen Beatty add another tally to the show. "Two girls and a piano," to say nothing of their countless merits. They call themselves the "different girls" because one is dark and the other fair, one is tall and slender, the other not so tall, not so slender, but just so graceful, just so beautiful and just so alarmingly charming. What they do not know about "vamps" is not known—and better still, "vamps" whom we know and other that we are not allowed to know may compare with but never surpass these two in vamping. They sing and play and both singing and playing call for great applause.

Bert Baker presents a little farce, "Prevarication," it is called, with Bert the prevaricator—and extraordinary clever perverter of the truth. He is well supported by his cast—Charles Raymond, Paddy Baker and Pearl Stevens. The farce is moulded from a chain of clever lies linked with funny situations encircling an old idea for the cure of melancholy.

Pietro, well known as the "celebrated piano accordionist" of the gramophone, entertains us with his classical numbers. His interpretation of our latest fox trots is nothing short of marvellous. His is a number that one could hear day after day with no change in his liking for it other than an ever growing delight.

The Casino Brothers and Marion Wilkins are interpretive dancers presenting "The Spanish-American Dance Revue." One is no peer of the other and each is perfect. Dancing to time to difficult dances merging into one another at the rapid change of time is perhaps the most noteworthy point in their number—presented before a back-ground of artistic setting.

Dave Seed and Ralph Austin make "Things and Stuff" quite a pleasing thing contributing largely to the good points of the bill.

The Ladder Lad, Louis Leo introduces the "Big Baby" in quite a unique way. No better balancing feats have been staged in Montreal. When a man can stand on an upright ladder for the cruel long seconds of ten minutes without the least anxiety to himself or to those within striking distance of the ladder upon which he perches himself—he can balance.

Lou and Genevieve Nouvelles in the artist's studio are both very good acrobats whose number completes a very good all round performance.

CAPITOL.

"The Conquering Power," a modern adaptation of one of Balzac's stories is the feature at Capitol this week. Though the theme is hardly a new one, the acting of Rudolph Valentino and a really marvellous supporting caste, lift the picture above the ordinary. The acting of Alice Terry as Eugenie was especially good. The part of Pere Gaudet, who specializes in defrauding his youthful relatives is also well done and even the unimportant parts are handled in a very convincing manner.

The story deals with a Parisian dandy who is assigned to the care of his uncle, after his father's death. Charlie's uncle has him sent off to Martinique but he is not quick enough to prevent his nephew from falling in love with his charming niece. While Charles is languishing in the tropics his uncle makes himself generally agreeable by collecting what remains of his nephew's fortune and throwing barriers in the way of the two young lovers. He finally becomes so wrapped up in his gold that he dies in a fit, thinking that his money bags are crushing him. Some years later Charles returns with a fortune and a set of whiskers of the approved French style, and the happy couple are reunited in the orthodox manner.

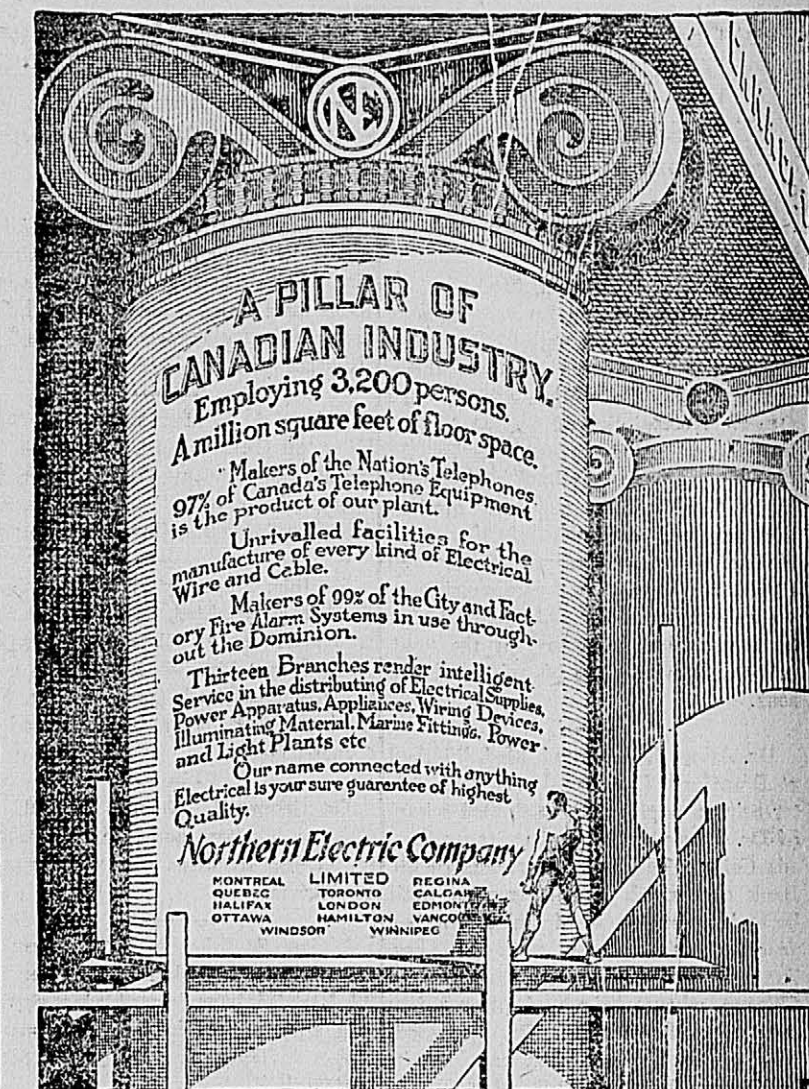

The comedy, "By Heck" is a rural comedy of the type which originated about the time when Adam and Eve left the Garden of Eden to engage in Agriculture. The usual hired man gets the usual farmers daughter in the usual manner.

"Reubensville" a musical sketch has some good singing and dancing. The song about "the ole swimmin' hole" never fails to get applause.

The program is rounded off by an interesting news picture and a selection from "Tales of Hoffman" which is played very well indeed.

MANY MCGILL MEDICAL GRADS. DIE DURING LAST FEW DAYS

Drs. Charles L. Easton, Med. '87; Albert J. Henwood, Med. '79; George B. Rowell, Med. '84, and James Alfred Kerr Wilson, Med. '85, Succumb—George Edwards, Sci. '63, Accidentally Killed at Cold Lake, Alberta—Prof. George Adams to Wed Again.

Among deaths recently recorded are those of the following:—

Dr. Charles L. Easton, Med. '87, at Smith's Falls, Ont., on January 19, aged 65. Dr. Easton was a native of Easton's Corners, Ont., who was educated there, at the Smith's Falls High School, the Ottawa Normal School and at McGill. For several years before entering the University he taught school in the vicinity of Smith's Falls, and after graduation, practised continuously in that town. He had served as Medical Officer of Health for 33 years and as a member of the School Board for eight years. Later he was medical inspector for the town schools. Surviving are his wife and two sons.

Dr. Albert J. Henwood, Med. '79, died at Brantford, Ont., on January 20. After being a pupil at the celebrated school of Dr. Tassie at Galt and at Upper Canada College, he was in the service of the Bank of British North America until he took up studies in Medicine. For one year he was a surgeon with the Allan line and then commenced practice in Chicago, whence he moved, after a few months, to Brantford. Dr. Henwood, who was in his 68th year, had been in indifferent health for several years.

Dr. George B. Rowell, Med. '84, died at San Bernardino, Cal., on January 11 in his 63rd year.

A. Pinto Joseph, Sci. '05, died in New York city on January 12. An electrical engineer, he had been in the service of the General Electric and Westinghouse companies. His wife and two young children survive.

Harold A. Baylis, Sci. '09 died suddenly in Montreal on January 15 aged 38.

Dr. James Alfred Kerr Wilson, Med. '85, died at the Vancouver General Hospital on January 20, in his 68th year. He was a native of Manotick, Ont., and went to British Columbia over 30 years ago, practising at Ladner where he also owned a ranch. While the C. P. R. was being constructed, Dr. Wilson was medical health officer with that company. Six years ago he retired and moved to Vancouver, where he was associated in the publication of the Evening Journal.

An engagement of interest to many at the University is announced, that of Prof. J. George Adams, C.B.E., professor of pathology and bacteriology at McGill from 1892 to 1919, and Miss Marie Wilkinson, eldest daughter of Rev. Thomas and Mrs. Wilkinson, of Litherland vicarage, Liverpool, England. Dr. Adams is now vice-chancellor of the University of Liverpool.

Mrs. Ellis widow of Hon. J. V. Ellis, Senator, who died at St. John, N.B., on January 21, was the mother of Dr. W. L. Ellis, Med. '95, of St. John.

At Toronto on January 20 a son was born to Dallas F. Grahame, Sci. '01, and Mrs. Grahame.

JEAN BIELER WILL SPEAK ON FEB. 2ND

Cercle Francais of League of Nations Is Quest

Members of the Cercle Francais will assemble next Thursday evening, February 2nd in Strathcona Hall. They will be pleased to hear that the executive of the Club, with the kind assistance of Professor R. du Roure, have been able to secure a very well-known speaker in the person of Jean Bieler, a graduate of McGill University.

Jean Bieler, for the past few years, has been fulfilling the responsible duties of secretary to the French delegates of the League of Nations. The speaker has not yet definitely announced what the subject of his conference will be, but, from his past activities, we are led to believe that he will deal with the question of international relations. It will be announced, however, within the next day or so.

Needless to state that this will be an exceptional opportunity for all members, and the president of the Cercle, D. Cowan, extends a hearty invitation to all undergraduates who find themselves sufficiently interested and would wish to attend.

SOCIAL NOTES

Captain Walter Stenson and the members of the McGill hockey team, together with every McGill student, will tender a reception to the Queen's hockey team on Saturday evening, February 4th, 1922, at 8.15 p.m.

Captain Walter Stenson never gets excited when playing in goals. He will be the only man with a license to stay cool next Saturday. Every McGill man must be out and yelling his head off.

George Edwards, Sci. '63, one of the oldest living graduates of the University was accidentally killed on January 23 at Cold Lake, Alberta, where he was engaged in the lumbering business. Mr. Edwards was 80 years of age.

Colonel J. A. Macphail, Sci. '93 of Kingston Ont., and Lt. Col. C. M. Edwards, past student, Ottawa, have been appointed honorary aides-de-camp to His Excellency the Governor-General.

Dr. John Hayes, Med. '90, and Dr. J. E. C. Tomkins, Med. '93, have been elected councillors of Richmond, Que., Dr. J. C. Colby, Arts '98, Med. '02, a councillor of Stanstead, Que., and Dr. S. J. Bennett, Med. '08, a councillor of Inverness, Que.

Dr. George R. Johnson, Med. '02, of Calgary, has been appointed registrar of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Alberta.

Walter S. Johnson, K.C., Arts '03, Law '06, and J. Arthur Mathewson, Arts '12, Law '15, have formed a law partnership with offices in the Commercial Union building, 232 St. James Street, Montreal.

J. Sydney Dash, Agr. '13, who has been director of Agriculture at Canada House, F.V.I., has returned to Canada and has joined the staff of the Tobacco division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Gordon W. MacDougall, K.C., Arts '91, Law '94, represented the Bar Association of Montreal at the annual meeting of the New York State Bar Association in New York city.

The following have qualified for call to the bar of Quebec: G. G. Anglin, Law '21; J. J. Harold, Arts '16, Law '21; P. P. Hutchison, Arts '18, Law '21; C. Russell McKenzie, Arts '16 and David Shvemar, Law '20.

Rae G. Ritchie, Arts '15, has passed the examinations entitling him to be called to the British Columbia bar.

At Colombo, Ceylon, on December 5, a son was born to Dr. W. Gordon Brown, Arts '04, Sci. '07, and Mrs. Brown.

At 45 Cobourg road, Halifax, N.S., on January 16 the marriage took place of Robert E. Jamieson, M. Sci. '14, associate professor of civil engineering at the University, and Mrs. Margaret Morton, daughter of the late Hon. William Dennis, Senator.

George D. MacDougall, Sci. '95, chief engineer of the British Empire Steel Corporation, New Glasgow, N.S., has been elected vice-president of the Association of Professional Engineers of Nova Scotia. C. H. Wright, Sci. '96, manager of the Canadian General Electric Co., Halifax was elected a councillor.

MANDOLIN CLUB TO STAR AGAIN

Local Popularity of Club Increasing Rapidly

The Mandolin Club has been going well and steadily since the beginning of the present session. Not only has it become well known within the university but it has also begun to secure quite a reputation outside university circles altogether. The tour during the Christmas vacation did a lot to spread the name of McGill and to show that the undergraduates are as live as ever. The selections rendered by the club last week at the smoker of the Engineering Institute of Canada were much appreciated by all who heard them. Appearance at such affairs as the latter is giving the McGill Mandolinists a good name in the city, and it is hoped that this will continue to grow.

On the 24th of February there is to be a big concert in Montreal West, at which the Mandolin Club has been asked to take quite an important part. A few good practices are needed before this takes place so as to have everything in first class shape. Some new pieces will be practiced up, and those which are beginning to get stale will be discarded. The first practice will be held tonight at 7.15 at the Peate Studio. An endeavour will be made to have the practice start on time so that it will be over early. Everybody who possibly can, please be present.

An Intercollegiate game is always the signal for a packed house at the Arena. Don't let the man from downtown get the best seats. Buy yours early at the Union.

Shag and his band of huskies intend to break into the win column on Saturday. Get out and shout for them.

NOTICES

PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

There will be an open meeting of the Philosophical Society in the Union on February 6th, at 8.15. Dean Laing will address the meeting, and will be introduced by Sir Arthur Currie. This meeting will be a splendid opportunity for Arts men to hear Dean Laing.

COMMERCE '24 WIN VS. ARTS SENIORS

Good Hockey Featured by Sensational Playing

Combination was the determining factor in the hockey game which Commerce '24 won from Arts '22 by the score of 5-1. The game, from the minute that referee Connor blew his whistle till the end of the last period was fast and showed speed, skill and action on the part of both teams. The Commerce men showed more combination than the Arts senior, especially in the first period. Syd Pierce, substituted in goal for the losers, on the account of the suspension of McDougal, played a good game. Falls, goal for Commerce made some fine stops, some seemingly impossible ones being blocked by his speed and skill.

Six minutes after the start of the first period Commerce drew their first blood. Going down the ice Galley passed to Stearns who made a clean wing shot that got passed Pierce. Two minutes later Murphy sagged the nets for Commerce second counter on a lone rush from centre ice, shooting from outside the Arts defence.

Mathewson was put off for two minutes and during this time and for about two minutes after he returned to the ice the Arts men hammered hard shots at Falls but were unsuccessful in getting one past his stellar playing.

On a scrimmage in front of the Commerce net Harris secured the puck and slipped it into the corner of the net for Arts only tally. Falls had no chance to stop this shot.

A half minute before the gong Stearns and McComb worked a tricky combination past the defence and Stearns shot another counter past Pierce for the third Commerce goal.

Score at half time: Commerce 3, Arts 1.

The second period started with as good hockey as the first. Four minutes after the face off, McComb put a speedy wing shot past the Arts guardian. This was followed about five minutes later by another wing counter by Galley. From then on the effective defence work of Hall and Moore coupled with some remarkable saves by Pierce saved the score from being higher.

Arts could not seem to get through Goldie and Robertson on Commerce defence, while shots from outside defence were blocked by Falls. The period ended just as Falls stopped Harris's wicked shot from left wing. As the puck dropped from Falls' pads the final whistle blew, leaving Commerce winner 5-1.

COLLEGE MORALITY

Morality among students in colleges is higher than in any other group of corresponding numbers, according to the Rev. Dr. Warren F. Sheldon of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, after an extensive investigation of moral conditions in more than a hundred private and State universities. He is one of the secretaries of the Methodist Educational Board in charge of the Wesley Foundation for providing religious activities of members of the denomination in the student bodies of the various educational present low moral standard of college students today," said Dr. Sheldon yesterday, "but investigation does not confirm the general impression. We have been impressed with the high moral standard of college students after investigation of this very thing. Two or three drunken students attract more attention and make more noise than 500 quiet diligent men about them. There is a small percentage of young men in every college who live riotous lives and often give the whole college a bad name.

"The fact that a man behaves himself at college is no news. But when one does not, it is no news, because it is the unusual thing. There is also a fringe of young people living near every college who are usually regarded as college students and their conduct often is the cause of false impressions about the student behavior.

"I do not mean to imply that college dormitories are glowing examples of rectitude, for single men living in barracks do not naturally grow into plaster saints. My contention is that the moral standard of any representative group of college men is higher than a corresponding group of young men from any other field of activity. There is a certain sense of independence, free and easy manners and modes of dress, but the moral side of these young men will stand investigation. The fact that the colleges today are in the limelight makes a great difference. But if we were to turn the spotlight on other young men in other callings outside of college, we would then come to appreciate the high moral standard of college students.

HISTORICAL CLUB TO HEAR GOOD PAPERS

On Wednesday night, the first of February, at eight o'clock, the Historical Club meets for the first time since the exam. period. The subject for the evening is "The Race Question in the Pacific," and one of the club members will have the floor. H. R. Avison will give a paper under the title "The Conflict of Color in the Pacific." Mr. Avison has spent much time on the subject, and the evening ought to be a most constructive one to the club.

The meeting will, of course, take place in Strathcona Hall, and be of the usual informal nature, which gives these meetings much of their attractiveness. It is hoped that there will be a good turn-out on Wednesday of all the club members to start the new year and new term off with enthusiasm.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF THE '45-MINUTE' LECTURE

A dash through the door,
A scramble for seats,
As down from upstairs,
The lecturer flees.

Brisk opening of books,
And creaking of chairs,
And gripping of pens
In haste-harried hands.
A swift sentence or two—
The lecture's begun.
The pale pupils, panting—
All breathlessly busy—
Sit scribbling scant notes.
The brief, learned lecture
Progresses post-haste:
Places, peoples and dates
Pass in rapid review.
Then the subject's summed up
In hurried liharange,
(By the lecturer limp
Tired—but triumphant)
As, sudden and sharp
Comes a clamorous clang—
The punctual porter
Is pounding the gong.

Once more, somewhere else:

A dash through a door,
A scramble for seats,
As up from downstairs
The lecturer flees.
